SEAN F. McAVOY, CLERK

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
EASTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON

TESSA R.¹,

Plaintiff,

v.

COMMISSIONER OF SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION,

Defendant.

No. 4:21-CV-05149-SAB

ORDER DENYING PLAINTIFF'S MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT;
GRANTING DEFENDANT'S
MOTION FOR SUMMARY
JUDGMENT

Before the Court are Cross-Motions for Summary Judgment. ECF Nos. 11,

12. The motions were heard without oral argument. Plaintiff is represented by Chad L. Hatfield; Defendant is represented by Lars J. Nelson and Brian M.
Donovan.

Plaintiff brings this action seeking judicial review of the Commissioner of Social Security's final decision denying her application for Disability Income Benefits under Title II and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) under Title XVI of the Social Security Act, 42 U.S.C. §§ 1382. After reviewing the administrative ¹Pursuant to the recommendation of the Committee on Court Administration and Case Management of the Judicial Conference of the United States, Plaintiff's name is partially redacted.

ORDER DENYING PLAINTIFF'S MOTION FOR SUMMARY
JUDGMENT; GRANTING DEFENDANT'S MOTION FOR SUMMARY
JUDGMENT ~ 1

1 record and briefs filed by the parties, the Court is now fully informed. For the 2 reasons set forth below, the Court denies Plaintiff's Motion for Summary
3 Judgment, ECF No. 11, and grants Defendant's Motion for Summary Judgment, 4 ECF No. 12.

5 I. Jurisdiction

6 On October 17, 2018, Plaintiff filed an application for disability income
7 benefits, as well as supplemental security income. Plaintiff's application was 8 denied initially and on reconsideration. On March 9, 2021, Plaintiff appeared and 9 testified by telephone before ALJ Mark Kim, with the assistance of her counsel, 10 Chad Hatfield. Thomas Weiford, vocational expert, also participated. At the 11 hearing, Plaintiff amended her alleged onset date to August 8, 2018, and requested
12 a closed period of disability from August 8, 2018 to March 1, 2020. The ALJ
13 issued a decision on March 23, 2021, finding Plaintiff was not disabled.

14 Plaintiff requested review by the Appeals Council; the Appeals Council
15 denied the request on September 13, 2021. The Appeals Council's denial of review 16 makes the ALJ's decision the "final decision" of the Commissioner of Social 17 Security, which this Court is permitted to review. 42 U.S.C. § 405(g), 18 1383(c)(1)(3).

19 Plaintiff filed a timely appeal with the United States District Court for the 20 Eastern District of Washington on November 17, 2021. ECF No. 1. The matter is 21 before this Court pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 405(g).

22 II. Five-Step Sequential Evaluation Process

23 The Social Security Act defines disability as the "inability to engage in any 24 substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical or 25 mental impairment which can be expected to result in death or which has lasted or 26 can be expected to last for a continuous period of not less than twelve months." 42
27 U.S.C. §§ 423(d)(1)(A), 1382c(a)(3)(A). A claimant shall be determined to be 28 under a disability only if their impairments are of such severity that the claimant is

ORDER DENYING PLAINTIFF'S MOTION FOR SUMMARY
JUDGMENT; GRANTING DEFENDANT'S MOTION FOR SUMMARY
JUDGMENT ~ 2

1 not only unable to do their previous work, but cannot, considering claimant's age,
2 education, and work experiences, engage in any other substantial gainful work that 3 exists in the national economy. 42 U.S.C. §§ 423(d)(2)(A), 1382c(a)(3)(B). The 4 Commissioner has established a five-step sequential evaluation process to 5 determine whether a person is disabled in the statute. See 20 C.F.R. §§ 6 404.1520(a)(4)(i)-(v), 416.920(a)(4)(i)-(v).

7 Step One: Is the claimant engaged in substantial gainful activities? 20
8 C.F.R. §§ 404.1520(a)(4)(i), 416.920(a)(4)(i). Substantial gainful activity is work 9 done for pay and requires compensation above the statutory minimum. Keyes v.
10 Sullivan, 894 F.2d 1053, 1057 (9th Cir. 1990). If the claimant is engaged in 11 substantial activity, benefits are denied. 20 C.F.R. § 404.1520(b), 416.920(b). If 12 the claimant is not, the ALJ proceeds to step two.

13 Step Two: Does the claimant have a medically-severe impairment or 14 combination of impairments? 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1520(a)(4)(ii), 416.920(a)(4)(ii). A 15 severe impairment is one that lasted or must be expected to last for at least 12
16 months and must be proven through objective medical evidence. Id. §§ 404.1509, 17 416.909. If the claimant does not have a severe impairment or combination of 18 impairments, the disability claim is denied. Id. § 404.1520(a)(4)(ii),
19 416.920(a)(4)(ii). If the impairment is severe, the evaluation proceeds to the third 20 step.

21 Step Three: Does the claimant's impairment meet or equal one of the listed
22 impairments acknowledged by the Commissioner to be so severe as to preclude 23 substantial gainful activity? 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1520(a)(4)(iii), 416.920(a)(4)(iii). If 24 the impairment meets or equals one of the listed impairments, the claimant is 25 conclusively presumed to be disabled. 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1520(d), 416.920(d). If the 26 impairment is not one conclusively presumed to be disabling, the evaluation 27 proceeds to the fourth step.

28 Before considering to the fourth step, the ALJ must first determine the

ORDER DENYING PLAINTIFF'S MOTION FOR SUMMARY
JUDGMENT; GRANTING DEFENDANT'S MOTION FOR SUMMARY
JUDGMENT ~ 3

1 claimant's residual functional capacity. An individual's residual functional
 2 capacity is their ability to do physical and mental work activities on a sustained
 3 basis despite limitations from their impairments. 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1545(a)(1), 4 416.945(a)(1). The residual functional capacity is relevant to both the fourth and 5 fifth steps of the analysis.

6 Step Four: Does the impairment prevent the claimant from performing work
 7 they have performed in the past? 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1520(a)(4)(iv), 8 416.920(a)(4)(iv). If the claimant is able to perform their previous work, they are 9 not disabled. 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1520(f), 416.920(f). If the claimant cannot perform 10 this work, the evaluation proceeds to the fifth and final step.

11 Step Five: Is the claimant able to perform other work in the national 12 economy in view of their age, education, and work experience? 20 C.F.R. §§ 13 404.1520(a)(4)(v), 416.920(a)(4)(v). The initial burden of proof rests upon the 14 claimant to establish a prima facie case of entitlement to disability benefits. Tackett
 15 v. Apfel, 108 F.3d 1094, 1098 (9th Cir. 1999). This burden is met once a claimant 16 establishes that a physical or mental impairment prevents him from engaging in her 17 previous occupation. Id. At step five, the burden shifts to the Commissioner to 18 show that the claimant can perform other substantial gainful activity. Id.

19 III. Standard of Review

20 The Commissioner's determination will be set aside only when the ALJ's 21 findings are based on legal error or are not supported by substantial evidence in the 22 record as a whole. Matney v. Sullivan, 981 F.2d 1016, 1018 (9th Cir. 1992) (citing 23 42 U.S.C. § 405(g)). Substantial evidence is "more than a mere scintilla," 24 Richardson v. Perales, 402 U.S. 389, 401 (1971), but "less than a preponderance," 25 Sorenson v. Weinberger, 514 F.2d 1112, 1119 n.10 (9th Cir. 1975). Substantial 26 evidence is "such relevant evidence as a reasonable mind might accept as adequate 27 to support a conclusion." Richardson, 402 U.S. at 401.

28 A decision supported by substantial evidence will be set aside if the proper

 JUDGMENT ~ 4

1 legal standards were not applied in weighing the evidence and making the decision.
 2 Brawner v. Secr'y of Health & Human Servs., 839 F.2d 432, 433 (9th Cir. 1988).
 3 An ALJ is allowed “inconsequential” errors as long as they are immaterial to the 4 ultimate nondisability determination. Stout v. Comm'r, Soc. Sec. Admin., 454 F.3d
 5 1050, 1055 (9th Cir. 2006). The Court must uphold the ALJ’s denial of benefits if 6 the evidence is susceptible to more than one rational interpretation, one of which 7 supports the decision of the administrative law judge. Batson v. Barnhart, 359 F.3d
 8 1190, 1193 (9th Cir. 2004). It “must consider the entire record as a whole, 9 weighing both the evidence that supports and the evidence that detracts from the 10 Commissioner’s conclusion, and may not affirm simply by isolating a specific 11 quantum of supporting evidence.” Revels v. Berryhill, 874 F.3d 648, 654 (9th Cir.
 12 2017) (quotation omitted). “If the evidence can support either outcome, the court
 13 may not substitute its judgment for that of the ALJ.” Matney, 981 F.2d at 1019.

14 IV. Statement of Facts

15 The facts have been presented in the administrative record, the ALJ’s
 16 decision, and the briefs to this Court. Only the most relevant facts are summarized 17 herein.

18 At the time of the hearing, Plaintiff was 25 years old. She has longstanding 19 PTSD issues from being sexually abused by family members as a child. She has 20 her GED. She was working prior to August 8, 2018, but she quit because of her 21 depression. A relationship had ended. COVID hit. She was pregnant and became 22 homeless. Her panic attacks increased. She testified that she was unable to care for 23 herself at least six out of seven days a week. She was unable to access treatment, in 24 part, because of COVID, and she was not taking any medication.

25 She has two children. Her oldest son, who was six at the time of the hearing, 26 has autism and lives with his father in California.

27 Plaintiff has past relevant work as a sales clerk, telephone sales, and store
 28 laborer. She returned to full time work on March 1, 2020.

1 V. The ALJ's Findings

2 The ALJ issued an opinion affirming denial of benefits. AR 15-25. The ALJ
3 found that Plaintiff met the insured status requirements of the Social Security Act
4 through March 31, 2024. At step one, the ALJ found that Plaintiff has not engaged
5 in substantial gainful activity since August 8, 2018, the amended alleged onset 6 date. AR 17.

7 At step two, the ALJ identified the following severe impairments: major 8 depressive disorder; generalized anxiety disorder; and posttraumatic stress disorder 9 (PTSD). AR 18. The ALJ found that Plaintiff had non-severe impairments of 10 obesity and ADHD. AR 18. The ALJ rejected Plaintiff's claims that she has back
11 pain, skin rash, chest pains, leg pain and memory problems because there were no
12 clinical findings in the record to establish these diagnoses. AR 18.

13 At step three, the ALJ found that Plaintiff did not have an impairment or 14 combination of impairments that meets or medically equals the severity of one of 15 the listed impairments. AR 180. Ultimately, the ALJ concluded that Plaintiff has a 16 residual function capacity ("RFC") to perform:

17 A full range of work at all exertional levels but with the following 18 nonexertional limitations: she can perform simple, routine tasks with a 19 reasoning level of 2 or less; work with only occasional job-related 20 decision-making and only occasional and simple changes; and work 21 involving no interaction with the public and only occasional superficial interaction with coworkers not involving tandem tasks.
AR 20.

22 At step four, the ALJ found that Plaintiff was not able to perform any past 23 relevant work. AR 23.

24 At step five, the ALJ found that Plaintiff was not disabled and capable of 25 performing work that exists in significant numbers in the national economy, such 26 as laundry worker, industrial cleaner, and janitor. AR 24.

1 VI. Issues for Review

2 1. Whether the ALJ properly evaluated the medical opinion evidence?
3 2. Whether the ALJ properly evaluated Plaintiff's symptom testimony?
4 3. Whether the ALJ properly evaluated Plaintiff's mother's written 5 testimony?
6 4. Whether the ALJ properly conducted an adequate analysis at Step Five?

7 VII. Discussion

8 1. The ALJ's evaluation of the medical opinion evidence

9 Plaintiff asserts the ALJ erred in evaluating the opinion of Dr. Bruce Eather, 10 PhD.

11 For claims filed on or after March 27, 2017,² like the present claim, new 12 regulations apply regarding the evaluation of medical evidence. Revisions to Rules
13 Regarding the Evaluation of Medical Evidence, 82 Fed. Reg. 5844 (Jan. 18, 2017);
14 see Woods v. Kijakazi, 32 F.4th 785 (9th Cir. 2022). The new regulations eliminate 15 any semblance of a hierarchy of medical opinions and state that the agency does 16 not defer to any medical opinions. 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1520c(a), 416.920c.

17 Specifically, the rules eliminate the agency's "treating source rule," which gave 18 special deference to certain opinions from treating sources. 82 Fed. Reg. at 5853.
19 In articulating the ALJ's consideration of medical opinions for persuasiveness, the 20 ALJ considers the following factors: (1) Supportability and (2) Consistency; (3)
21 Relationship with the claimant, including (i) length of treatment relationship; (ii)
22 frequency of examinations; (iii) purpose of the treatment relationship; (iv) extend 23 of the treatment relationship; (v) examination relationship; (4) Specialization; and 24 (5) Other factors, including whether the medical source has familiarity with the 25 _____

26 ² For claims filed prior to March 27, 2017, an ALJ was to give more weight to "those 27 physicians with the most significant clinical relationship with the plaintiff."
28 Carmickle v. Comm'r, 533 F.3d 1155, 1164 (9th Cir. 2008).

1 other evidence or an understanding of SSA's disability program's policies and 2 evidentiary requirements. 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1520c(b), 416.920c(b). The most 3 important factors in evaluating the persuasiveness of medical opinions are 4 supportability and consistency. 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1520c(a), 416.920c(a).

5 Supportability and consistency are further explained in the regulations:

6 (1) Supportability.

7 The more relevant the objective medical evidence and supporting 8 explanations presented by a medical source are to support his or her medical 9 opinion(s) or prior administrative medical finding(s), the more persuasive 10 the medical opinions or prior administrative medical finding(s) will be.

11 (2) Consistency.

12 The more consistent a medical opinion(s) or prior administrative medical 13 finding(s) is with the evidence from other medical sources and nonmedical 14 sources in the claim, the more persuasive the medical opinion(s) or prior 15 administrative medical finding(s) will be.

16 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1520c(c); 416.920c(c).

17 When a medical source provides multiple medical opinions, the ALJ must 18 articulate how it considered these opinions in a single analysis applying the above-
19 listed factors. 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1520c(b)(1), 416.920c(b)(1). If equally persuasive 20 medical opinions about the same issue are both equally well-supported and 21 consistent with the record, but are not exactly the same, the ALJ must articulate 22 how it considered the other most persuasive factors in making its decision.

23 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1520c(c)(3), 416.920c(c)(3).

24 Dr. Eather was one of several DDS psychological medical consultant. They 25 opined that Plaintiff would have intermittent disruptions of attention and 26 concentration due to interference from her psychological symptoms, but not so 27 much as to preclude productive activity in a competitive employment situation.

1 They recommended she would work best away from the demands of the general
2 public and on tasks that do not require a high level of cooperation with others.

3 The ALJ found the DDS psychological medical consultants to be somewhat 4 persuasive because they supported their opinions and the opinions were consistent
5 with the longitudinal record and Plaintiff's mental health. However, the ALJ
6 included slightly greater limitations in the RFC by restricting Plaintiff to "simple,
7 routine tasks with a reasoning level of 2 or less; work with only occasional job-
8 related decision-making and only occasional and simple changes and work
9 involving no interaction with the public and only occasional superficial interaction
10 with coworkers not involving tandem tasks."

11 Plaintiff asserts the ALJ erred by not quantifying Dr. Easter's opinion that 12 Plaintiff will have intermittent disruptions of attention and concentration and not 13 challenging Dr. Easter's assessment of what level of unproductivity is allowed in 14 the competitive employment.

15 The ALJ was not required to quantify what Dr. Easter meant when he said
16 intermittent disruptions of attention and concentration. The ALJ adequately 17 incorporated Plaintiff's limitations in her RFC, including accommodating the 18 intermittent disruptions of attention and concentration. The ALJ's evaluation of the 19 medical opinions is supported by substantial evidence in the record.

20 2. The ALJ's evaluation of Plaintiff's symptom testimony

21 In determining whether a claimant's testimony regarding subjective pain or 22 symptoms is credible, the ALJ engages in a two-step analysis. Garrison v. Colvin 23 759 F.3d 995, 1014 (9th Cir. 2014). "First, the ALJ must determine whether the 24 claimant has presented objective medical evidence of an underlying impairment
25 which could reasonably be expected to produce the pain or other symptoms
26 alleged." Id. (citation and quotation omitted). If the claimant satisfies the first step 27 of the analysis, and there is no evidence of malingering, the ALJ can reject the 28 claimant's testimony about the severity of their symptoms "only by offering

ORDER DENYING PLAINTIFF'S MOTION FOR SUMMARY
JUDGMENT; GRANTING DEFENDANT'S MOTION FOR SUMMARY
JUDGMENT ~ 9

1 specific, clear and convincing reasons for doing so.” Id. (citation and quotation
 2 omitted). “This is not an easy requirement to meet: The clear and convincing
 3 standard is the most demanding required in Social Security cases.” Id. (citation and 4 quotation omitted). That said, if the ALJ’s credibility finding is supported by 5 substantial evidence in the record, the reviewing court “may not engage in second-
 6 guessing.” Thomas v. Barnhart, 278 F.3d 947, 959 (9th Cir. 2002).

7 In recognition of the fact that an individual’s symptoms can sometimes 8 suggest a greater level of severity of impairment than can be shown by the 9 objective medical evidence alone, 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1529(c) and 416.929(c)
 10 describe the kinds of evidence, including the factors below, that the ALJ must 11 consider in addition to the objective medical evidence when assessing the 12 credibility of an individual’s statements:

13 1. Daily activities; 2. The location, duration, frequency, and intensity of 14 pain or other symptoms; 3. Factors that precipitate and aggravate the 15 symptoms; 4. The type, dosage, effectiveness, and side effects of any 16 medication an individual takes or has taken to alleviate pain or other 17 symptoms; 5. Treatment, other than medication, an individual receives or 18 has received for relief of pain or other symptoms; 6. Any measures other 19 than treatment an individual uses or has used to relieve pain or other 20 symptoms (e.g., lying flat on his or her back, standing for 15 to 20 minutes every hour, or sleeping on a board); and 7. Any other factors concerning an individual’s functional limitations and restrictions due to pain or other symptoms.

21 SSR 16-3P, 2017 WL 5180304. Daily activities may be grounds for an adverse 22 credibility finding if (1) Plaintiff’s activities contradict her other testimony, or (2)
 23 Plaintiff “is able to spend a substantial part of [her] day engaged in pursuits
 24 involving the performance of physical functions that are transferable to a work
 25 setting.” Orn v. Astrue, 495 F.3d 625, 639 (9th Cir. 2007) (citing Fair v. Bowen, 26 885 F.2d 597, 603 (9th Cir. 1989)).

27 The ALJ discounted Plaintiff’s symptom testimony due to inconsistencies in 28 the record. The ALJ noted that the medical evidence during the requested close

ORDER DENYING PLAINTIFF’S MOTION FOR SUMMARY
 JUDGMENT; GRANTING DEFENDANT’S MOTION FOR SUMMARY
 JUDGMENT ~ 10

1 period was not consistent with her allegations. Specifically, the ALJ noted that 2 there were only routine and periodic counseling, with no psychiatric 3 hospitalizations or ER psych visits. Plaintiff took no mental health medications
4 during this time. The ALJ also noted that Plaintiff is currently able to work full-5 time and attend college despite no improvements in her condition. The ALJ also 6 noted that the available medical opinions uniformly did not support a finding of 7 disability and relied on the unremarkable objective medical evidence, Plaintiff's
8 course of treatment and pattern of reports to providers, and her high-functioning 9 activities of daily living that were contrary to her claims that she was unable to 10 work during this time. These are specific, clear, and convincing reason for 11 discounting Plaintiff's symptom testimony.

12 Plaintiff argues the ALJ failed to consider that her homelessness and poverty
13 caused her to not seek treatment. However, the ALJ did consider Plaintiff's living 14 situation. Notably, the ALJ noted that most of Plaintiff's visits to providers focused 15 on situational stressors, including family dynamics, living arrangement, pregnancy 16 complications, custody issues with her children, and financial stressors, rather than 17 her mental health conditions. The ALJ also noted that Plaintiff was able to seek 18 treatment multiple times for pregnancy-related complications, despite being 19 homeless. The ALJ's credibility determination regarding Plaintiff's allegations of 20 disabling mental health impairments is supported by substantial evidence in the 21 record.

22 3. Plaintiff's Mother's Testimony

23 Plaintiff argues the ALJ erred by failing to provide germane reasons for 24 discounting her mother's written statement. The ALJ did not err in discounting 25 Plaintiff's mother's statement. The ALJ found that the statement conflicted with 26 the objective medical evidence.

1 4. Step Five Analysis

2 An RFC “is the most [one] can still do despite [their] limitations” and it is 3 “based on all the relevant evidence in [one's] case record,” rather than a single 4 medical opinion or piece of evidence. 20 C.F.R. § 416.945(a)(1); Vertigan v.
5 Halter, 260 F.3d 1044, 1049 (9th Cir. 2001) (“It is clear that it is the responsibility
6 of the ALJ, not the claimant's physician, to determine residual functional
7 capacity.”). In making the RFC determination, the ALJ considers those limitations
8 for which there is record support that does not depend on properly rejected
9 evidence and subjective complaints. See Batson v. Comm'r of Soc. Sec., 359 F.3d
10 1190, 1197 (9th Cir. 2004). A reviewing court “will affirm the ALJ's
11 determination of [a claimant's] RFC if the ALJ applied the proper legal standard
12 and their decision is supported by substantial evidence.” Bayliss v. Barnhart, 427
13 F.3d 1211, 1217 (9th Cir. 2005).

14 Plaintiff argue the ALJ should have indicated in her RFC that she would be 15 off-task 15 percent of the day, which would preclude work. The ALJ did not err in 16 failing to do so simply because there is no medical opinion providing that she 17 would be off task this amount of time. The ALJ's RFC determination is supported 18 by substantial evidence in the record.

1 VIII. Conclusion

2 Here, the ALJ's determination that Plaintiff was not disabled for the period
3 in question is well supported by substantial evidence in the record.

4 Accordingly, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED:

5 1. Plaintiff's Motion for Summary Judgment, ECF No. 11, is DENIED.
6 2. Defendant's Motion for Summary Judgment, ECF No. 12, is 7 GRANTED.

8 3. The decision of the Commissioner is affirmed.

9 4. Judgment shall be entered in favor of Defendant and against Plaintiff.

10 IT IS SO ORDERED. The District Court Executive is hereby directed to 11 file this Order, provide copies to counsel, and close the file.
